$4.9 million in savings never looked so good.

Facing the challenges of the 2009 economic environment was daunting. Agilent Technologies, Santa Clara, California had its own aggressive agenda. Reduce facility operating expenses by 22%. Improve the utilization and management of its global real estate portfolio. But where to begin?

Partnering with Johnson Controls Global WorkPlace Solutions, Agilent reinvented its real estate, energy and facilities management strategies. By reshaping workspace configurations, Agilent reduced its real estate costs, generating immediate savings across 11 million square feet of office and manufacturing space, at 220 locations, in 33 countries.

This approach helped Agilent realize its financial and operational objectives, including a $4.9 million reduction in operating costs in just seven months. And where did those savings go? Straight to Agilent's bottom line. A result that resonated with investors while enhancing its competitive stance in the marketplace. In short, Agilent Technologies has a real estate portfolio that works.

Johnson Controls can tailor a real estate and facilities management strategy to meet your needs. To learn about how Johnson Controls can make your buildings work more efficiently, sustainably and profitably, visit MakeYourBuildingsWork.com
